

Employee Offboarding & Separation Policy

Policy ID	HR-OF-001
Department	HR
Policy Type	Employee Offboarding
Version	1.1
Effective Date	2026-02-15
Status	Active
Policy Owner	Human Resources

1. Purpose

This policy establishes minimum requirements for securely and orderly completing an employee's separation from the company.

2. Scope

It applies to employees and relevant contractors leaving the company because of resignation, termination, retirement, contract completion, or other separation events.

3. Notice and Handover

Employees must follow the applicable notice period and separation process communicated by HR.

Employees are expected to complete reasonable knowledge-transfer and handover activities assigned by their manager.

The notice period applies to all levels in the company. If an employee voluntarily resigns without providing the necessary notice period, his/her full & final settlement may not be settled.

The relieving / experience letters will not be given. The company will take disciplinary action against the employee, depending on the severity of the situation.

The company reserves the right to pay or recover salary in lieu of notice period. Further, the company may as its discretion relive you on such date as it may deem fit even prior to the expiry of the notice period.

The management may relieve the employee at its discretion on the date requested. However, the notice salary will be deducted during the full and final settlement depending on case to case.

Termination from the service of the Company should be intimated by giving proper notice in advance or salary in lieu thereof on either side. The company reserves the right to pay or recover salary in lieu of notice period. Further, the company may as its discretion relive you on such date as it may deem fit even prior to the expiry of the notice period.

Privilege Leave can be adjusted against balance of Notice Period if desired by the Management and is subject to fulfilling the norms of Notice period clause specified in the Employee Agreement.

4. Company Property

Company laptops, mobile devices, access cards, tokens, storage media, and other company property must be returned by the date specified by HR or the employee's manager.

All files and documents (hard copy or electronic) lying in the custody of the employee shall be handed over to the department head / admin. The status of pending activities, if any, with the department head's signature must be obtained in the prescribed format. (Exit Form)

All office equipment, client property, other property and stationery items lying in the custody of the employee shall be handed over to the admin.

Employees must not retain company property after separation unless an authorized written exception exists.

All prescribed exit formats must be duly filled by the employee and signed by the department head shall be submitted to the HR Department. This is a pre-requisite for the employee's full and final settlement.

The concerned Department and HR will verify the filled exit formats before the final settlement is made.

5. Accounts and Access

System and application access will be reviewed and disabled according to the company's offboarding process.

Employees must not attempt to access company systems after their access has been disabled.

6. Company Information

Employees must return or securely delete company information from any approved temporary storage location when instructed.

Company Confidential and Restricted information must not be copied to personal devices or personal cloud storage before departure.

7. Knowledge Transfer

Employees must provide reasonable documentation, credentials-transfer procedures, status information, and work handover required by their manager.

Passwords must never be transferred by sharing a personal password; access should be transferred through approved administrative processes.

8. Final Expenses

Outstanding approved business expenses should be submitted within 15 calendar days after the employee's last working day unless HR or Finance provides a different deadline.

9. Continuing Obligations

Confidentiality, intellectual-property, information-security, and other obligations that continue after employment remain applicable according to the employee's agreements and company requirements.

10. Full & Final Settlement:

- HR will inform the Accounts Department once the exit procedure is completed.
- The full & final settlement for the employees will not be settled unless the employee completes the exit procedures.
- The Accounts Dept. shall deduct sums due to the company from the employee by way of debit balance in his tour account / loan or advance account or cost of damages if any caused to the equipment's entrusted to him for discharge of the official duties and salary in lieu of notice period etc.
- The Tax documents must be submitted for processing the Full & Final Settlement Amount.
- The full and final settlement shall be made within 7 working days.
- HR will issue the Full & Final Settlement Details to the employee.
